Red Mobs Shout 'Crush America'

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A Communist-led mob shouting "crush America" marched on the U.S. embassy in Jakarta today as protests against U.S. air strikes in North Viet Nam spread to other parts of the world, including Paris and San Francisco.

About 500 members of the Communist party youth wing marched in front of the embassy in Jakarta for about a half hour. They dispersed after five hours. They presented a petition to a staff member. The embassy was closed for the weekend and only a few diplomats were on duty.

Riot police armed with rifles and wearing steel helmets surrounded the embassy building. There was no violence and no damage was done.

The All-Indonesian Oil Workers Federation asked the government to expropriate foreign oil companies in a protest against the American reprisal air raids.

Paris police got rough with about 800 youths who heeded a Communist call to demonstrate in front of the U.S. Embassy there. They drove the demonstrators away from the embassy building, then grappled with some of them in a running fight along the Seine.

The youths chanted "Johnson... assassin!" and "Peace in Viet Nam!"

Witnesses said at least 10 policemen suffered cuts and bruises when struck by stones, beer bottles and other missiles. Several demonstrators were roughed up by police.

At Cordoba, Argentina, Communist youths yelled anti-U.S. slogans and hurled far bombs against the U.S.-Argentine Cultural Exchange Institute and littered a street with anti-American leaflets.

Scuffles In Oslo
In Oslo, Norway, mounted police cleared away about 150 persons who carried anti-American placards in front of the U.S. embassy. Some of them scuffled with the crowd. Three demonstrators were arrested.

The placards read "Hands off Viet Nam," "U.S.A. out of Viet Nam" and "Free elections in Viet Nam."

Police said several known Communists were in the group. In Vienna, about 50 Austrian Communist party members were kept away from the U.S. embassy. A delegation handed a petition to American officials.

About 200 chanting youths staged a protest at the embassy in Prague, Czechoslovakia. Embassy officials said police kept them well away from the building.

Officials Silent On Hope For Vietnam Peace Talks

Three Americans Drift To Cuba In Shrimp Boat

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Three Americans awaited today for arrangements to return to the United States after their 57-foot shrimp boat apparently went off course and grounded near Cuba Wednesday.

The men were taken to a Havana hotel and are well, according to a message from the Swiss embassy, which handles U.S. matters in Cuba.

The three, John Perryer, 20, Ernest Welch Bishop, 32, and Dale Alan West, 28, sailed from Key West last Saturday. They reportedly were not familiar with Florida waters and their boat had no charts.

When the three were taken by a Cuban vessel, a message was sent saying they had been "captured."

Klan, Nazis And Muslims May Be Investigated
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities is looking into the possibility of investigating the Ku Klux Klan, the Black Muslims, George Lincoln Rockwell's American Nazi party and the Minutemen.

The action was authorized unanimously at a closed meeting of the committee several days ago.

A resolution, not yet made public, called on chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., to continue preliminary inquiries into matters that had been brought to the committee's attention.

The resolution named no organizations, but, it was learned, discussion at the meeting left no doubt that the four organizations were the ones concerned.

The Black Muslims assert they are a religious organization. This Negro group believes there never can be racial peace or integration and views whites as the embodiment of the devil.

The Klan, which has a history of anti-Negro and anti-Roman Catholic actions, is an organization of whites that dates back to reconstruction.

The Minutemen, a comparatively new group based in the Midwest, believe Communists will take over the government one day. They buy firearms and conduct drills for what they believe is an inevitable showdown.

Rockwell's Nazi party is segregationist and mirrors the anti-Jewish views of Hitler's Germany. The members affect the dress of the German Nazis of pre-World War II.

Malay Police Battle Leftists
KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Riot police, reinforced by heavily armed soldiers and helicopter support, battled leftists who stormed the downtown section today, demanding overthrow of the Malaysia federation.

One mob of about 200 youths marched on the U.S. Information Service library, smashing windows with poles, rocks and by hurling a bicycle into the building.

Tear gas barrages pushed back the demonstrators and police erected barbed wire barricades at key intersections. Soldiers with fixed bayonets and automatic weapons manned the barricades.

Downtown streets were cleared after several hours and an emergency curfew was clamped on the heart of the capital. Major thoroughfares were deserted.

The government radio broadcast warnings for all persons to stay indoors. The cabinet of Prime Minister Abdul Rahman met in emergency session.

India Attempts To Stop Riots
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The government appeared ready today to make new concessions to southern Indians in an attempt to stop the bloody riots that have swept the area since Hindi was declared the official national language.

Fearing for the unity of the country, the government sent emissaries to Tamil-speaking Madras State where language riots have claimed at least 50 lives.

Parliamentary Affairs Minister Satyanarayan Sinha told newsmen the government would consider putting the southerners' language demands into law if looting, rioting and arson stopped.

Hindi became India's only official language Jan. 26 under a 15-year-old provision of the constitution. A separate bill says English may continue as an alternate for 10 years. The southerners fear this would subject them to linguistic, economic and cultural domination by northerners.

Viet Cong Flag Hauled Down In San Francisco
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Communist Viet Cong flag was run up the flagpole of the San Francisco federal building Friday by demonstrators protesting U.S. counterattacks in North Viet Nam.

The flag was swiftly hauled down by General Service Administration guards. Police said about 500 persons participated.

The demonstrators marched into downtown San Francisco after the appearance at the federal building. There were no arrests.

Girl Breaks Up As Ringo Weds
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 14-year-old girl, who told police she was depressed by Beatle Ringo Starr's marriage, has been hospitalized here after taking 16 aspirin tablets.

Police said Janice Wise of Columbus told them she took the pills over a two-day period because "Ringo has gotten married." She was hospitalized after she became sick at school Friday.

Rich Hoodlums Of Cosa Nostra Take Over Banks
WASHINGTON (AP) — Authoritative government sources said today federal grand juries are investigating reports that a few banks have been taken over by wealthy hoodlums of the nation's organized crime empire, the Cosa Nostra.

These sources, who asked not to be named, said in interviews that in the few such cases under study, mobsters of the syndicate are making a shambles of good banking practices with methods that flout the traditional cornerstones — integrity and trustworthiness — of the American banking system.

One government official emphasized that grand jury scrutiny of the reported takeovers is concentrated on banks still in operation. He said there has been no allegation that several bank failures of the last year are in any way connected with the syndicate's new interest in banking.

Only a handful of banks are involved so far, the sources told The Associated Press. But in those banks where Cosa Nostra figures are reported to have moved in, investigators are checking allegations that racketeers are draining the institutions of their assets and destroying capital structures with unsecured loans to cronies.

Cosa Nostra — Italian for "our thing" — is the nationwide network of so-called "families" which rule underworld affairs and reap millions of dollars annually from gambling, narcotics, rackets and legitimate business enterprises.

Having purchased control of a bank, one investigator said, the racketeers are free to use its charter as a license to steal and turn the bank into a convenient clearing house for ill-gotten "hot" money.

As for the few banks said to be involved, government officials refuse to name them or their locations since investigations are under way, and have been for months, by at least two grand juries. But the most reliable information is that the hoodlum banks, as investigators call them, are mostly in the East and Midwest, and are not confined to large cities.

Dockers Return At Major Ports
NEW YORK (AP) — Longshoremen went back to work today in New York and other ports, ending a 33-day-old dock strike.

Dockworkers at most major East and Gulf Coast ports also were heading back to the piers. But local disputes continued to tie up South Atlantic and Western Gulf ports where negotiations were in weekend recess.

The longshoremen swarmed onto Hudson River piers here at 8 a.m. and began work at Saturday overtime rates. Their return came after their union president agreed to recommendations of a presidential panel that the strike end in all ports where settlements have been reached.

Saturday is usually a quiet day on the piers, but with 194 ships in port here, shippers issued calls for 10,000 longshoremen to report today out of the 26,000 who work in New York.

Initial reports showed dockworkers also had returned to work in Baltimore and Philadelphia.

British Minister Meets Gromyko
MOSCOW (AP) — A British cabinet minister will meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko here Monday and diplomats speculate he may act as a go-between for U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's call for peace talks on Viet Nam.

A British embassy spokesman said today an appointment with Gromyko has been arranged for George Thomson, British minister of state for foreign affairs. He will fly back to London after the meeting.

Thomson, the No. 2 man in the British Foreign Office, came to Moscow Friday to sign a cultural agreement.

Diplomats at the United Nations speculated the British minister may discuss Thant's proposal that both sides in the Vietnamese conflict get together over a conference table.

The U.N. secretary-general said in a statement Friday the main parties in the dispute should arrange for talks before the crisis explodes into a major war. But he played down prospects of the United Nations taking any direct role.

Johnson Recalls Greatest Lesson Of Abe Lincoln
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson paid tribute to Abraham Lincoln Friday, saying, "His challenge to us sounds clearly across the years: love justice, extend liberty, remember you may be wrong, but act when you believe you are right."

Johnson visited the Lincoln Memorial and spoke at a White House luncheon observing the 156th anniversary of Lincoln's birth.

Johnson also told the luncheon guests: "Sometimes at night, as I struggle with terrible problems his presence in the dark corridors seems almost real."

"It is then I remember his greatest lesson. He loved the people and drew his strength from them. Though he is gone, the people are there. And they will give me strength, as they have to all those who have lived in this house."

No Significance Seen In Lull On War Front

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson Administration was officially silent today about proposals for a negotiated settlement of the Viet Nam war. The climate appeared chilly.

Officials said privately the United States has never ruled out peace talks and that it is up to North Viet Nam and Communist China to halt guerrilla attacks on South Viet Nam.

Besides, there is no optimism here that the one-day lull in terrorist attacks in South Viet Nam will have any lasting significance.

Attacks Expensive
Still, there is hope that the Communists will come to regard their attacks on South Viet Nam as too expensive an undertaking to run the risk of further reprisals and will decide to coexist peacefully with their neighbors.

Officials maintain the United States could not discuss terms that would amount to surrender of South Viet Nam to the Reds. As one high source put it: "If they want us out of South Viet Nam, a good way would be to call off their guerrillas and leave the country alone."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has expressed a similar view repeatedly.

Proposal Vague
White House press secretary George E. Reedy refused to comment on a proposal by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant Friday that both sides in the Viet Nam conflict begin talks preparatory to negotiations.

State Department officials said they found Thant's proposal vague and viewed it as a public statement rather than as a formal proposal to governments that would be involved.

Senate support for negotiation came from several sources, including Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He called Thant's proposal a good suggestion, and added: "Personally, I think it is always wiser to talk than to fight when you can get the parties together."

In Chicago, Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois predicted military action in Viet Nam may be increased soon.

Britain Interested
Dirksen spoke on a taped radio broadcast and said nothing about negotiation.

The United States should meet increased Viet Cong attacks on U.S. military posts with "equal if not greater intensity and with more weapons and greater firepower," Dirksen said.

In a related development, informed sources reported Friday that Prime Minister Harold Wilson has told President Johnson Britain supports U.S. actions in Viet Nam but is interested in finding ways toward a peaceful settlement.

Wilson called the President Thursday. Johnson's reply was not disclosed.

George Thomson, Britain's minister of state for foreign affairs, has been sent to Moscow to conclude a British-Soviet cultural agreement.

A British embassy spokesman said that while Thomson took along no proposals of any kind on Viet Nam "he naturally will be prepared to listen to Russian views if the subject arises."

The White House acknowledged, meanwhile, receipt of a communication from Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, but made no comment on its substance.

Shastri has advocated a meeting between Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin on Viet Nam.

Flying Fan Dies As Rented Plane Hits Power Line
SANTA MARIA, Calif. (AP) — Robert B. Alexander, 23, wanted an airplane so much that he saved for it by selling his car and riding a bike.

Alexander, a student pilot with 55 hours flying time, struck power lines near an airfield at Orcutt Friday in a rented plane. It crashed and burned.

Alexander died in the crash.

Girl Kidnaping Suspect Jailed

TRENTON (AP) — State police planned to seek a warrant today charging a 31-year-old Ecorse man with kidnaping an 11-year-old Trenton girl.

The warrant was to be sought against Harry Ruston who was held in the Riverview jail in lieu of $25,000 bond, said Cpl. Lambert Rayner of the state police Flat Rock post.

Ruston was arrested Friday by Riverview police on the basis of a description of his car.

Authorities accused him of enticing Elizabeth Scholl and another 11-year-old girl into his car as they were walking along a road four miles west of Trenton Thursday.

The second girl was released some two hours later but the Scholl youngster was not set free until almost midnight near her home, police said.

Ruston was held under a $25,000 bond set by Brownstown Township Justice Stuart Humphries.

The girls told police they were walking to Metropolitan Airport where they hoped to hitch a ride to London. They said they heard Ringo Starr of the Beatles singing group was to be married in London.

Gold Pile Days Over For U.S.A.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may never again collect gold on the massive scale of past decades, even if it should get the opportunity.

The simple reason: The disadvantages outweigh the advantages.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon has told Congress that any U.S. attempt to drain gold from abroad would lead only to a drive by other countries to protect their supplies with new controls.

This, Dillon said, would "sacrifice all the progress that has been made toward freer trade and payments among the nations of the free world."

The United States also believes that a better balanced international monetary system might be developed now because there is a better distribution of monetary gold among the major non-Communist nations.

In addition, the U.S. need for large amounts of gold will be lessened if Congress passes a bill to remove the 25 per cent gold backing on bank deposits.

Nonetheless, the United States still has a long-standing balance-of-payments deficit, and President Johnson has suggested a combination of legislation and voluntary measures to turn this deficit into a surplus.

World trade has expanded tremendously over the past seven years, but the gold supply has increased only $4.2 billion — from about $38.8 billion to $43 billion.

At the end of 1957 the U.S. gold stock totaled almost $22.9 billion, 59 per cent of the non-Communist supply. The International Monetary Fund held about $1.2 billion, and the remainder of the non-Communist world some $14.7 billion.

The U.S. stock now stands at about $15 billion — 35 per cent of the free world total — with some $25 billion distributed among other non-Communist nations and $2.4 billion in the IMF. In the Communist world, only the Soviet Union, with an amount estimated at $2 billion to $8 billion, has a significant stockpile.

Marshals Hunt Mayor Orville
DETROIT (AP) — Deputy U.S. marshals continued a search today for the elusive Orville Hubbard, mayor of Dearborn who has been sought since Thursday to face charges in a civil rights case.

Deputy marshals Kenneth Lewis and Richard Holleran failed to find Hubbard at his home or office Friday. They "will continue their search over the weekend," said U.S. Attorney Lawrence Gubow.

"Mr. Hubbard has been in direct defiance of a federal court," Gubow said. He said the 61-year-old mayor "obviously knows he is being sought and this is an act of open defiance of federal authorities."

Hubbard did not appear for his scheduled arraignment Thursday on charges by a federal grand jury that he violated the Civil Rights Act of 1870 and conspired to violate the act. Also indicted were Dearborn Public Safety Director Robert Lewis and Police Chief Garrison Clayton.

Hubbard was accused of conspiring with the two top police officials to deny equal protection of the laws to a Dearborn home owner whose house was stoned by a mob.

Ventura, Calif. Couple Awaiting Quadruplet Birth
VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — After nearly five years of childless marriage, the doctor had news for Mr. and Mrs. Gary W. Gwilliam — quadruplets.

"I was stunned," said Mrs. Gwilliam. "My husband and I just looked at each other, and there was a moment of silence before either of us spoke."

Doctors say that the chance of quadruplets being born is one in a million. The Gwilliams' quads are due in mid-May.

Mrs. Gwilliam is 28. Her husband, a Ventura County deputy district attorney, is 27.

Dimes Telethon Begins Tonight

Emily Swanson, Marquette, field representative for The National Foundation March of Dimes, today stressed the need for the March of Dimes telethon which begins at 11 tonight over WLUC-TV.

Last year Upper Peninsula chapters of the Foundation paid out $23,044 in direct patient aid to 83 polio patients and 18 birth defect cases and $6,000 to 12 students attending Universities on March of Dimes scholarships.

She said that funds were urgently needed so that chapters of the Upper Peninsula may look forward to another year of accomplishment in their help to handicapped children throughout the Upper Peninsula.

The telephone numbers to phone in pledges at the Television Station are 475-4171 and 475-4122. The Delta County number is ST6-1616, headquarters at the Sherman Hotel.

Carlsons Arrive In California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The wife and children of slain Congolese medical missionary Dr. Paul Carlson returned home Friday night — affectionately greeted by Dr. Carlson's father.

Lois Carlson, 36, and her children, Wayne, 9, and Lynette, 7, landed at Los Angeles International Airport after a flight from Chicago.

Mrs. Carlson got a bouquet of red roses from a friend and a hug and a kiss from her father-in-law, Gust Carlson, of suburban Alhambra.

She said she would stay several months with the elder Carlson and his wife, Ruth, who still is not fully recovered from a heart attack suffered a few days before their son was killed by rebels in Stanleyville last November.

"I'll just rest up for a while," the young widow said. "I don't know what I will be doing later."

She added:

"We are in the hands of God. We will go where he leads us. I was never bitter, and I am not bitter now. I thank the Lord for that."

The nationwide motor vehicle registration for 1964 is estimated at $6,193,000 by the Bureau of Public Roads.

Chamber Plays Leading Role

"What is the primary purpose of a local chamber of commerce?"

That question was emphasized Friday at the annual Michigan State Chamber of Commerce sponsored "Local Chamber Workshop" for Upper Peninsula officials at Escanaba.

Glen Scott, state chamber of commerce field representative from Detroit, told a group of 18 persons who braved heavy snow to attend the session, that in today's complex and rapidly changing society leadership is the most needed function of a local chamber.

Fred Murrell, executive secretary of the Battle Creek chamber, Don Dossett U. P. Power Co. representative from Houghton, and Wendell Hudson, state chamber of commerce ambassador from Marquette, also took part in the program.

"In my opinion leadership is the only excuse for a chamber of commerce—leadership in the broadest sense—to combat the hard knuckled economic problems that smack you in the community face day after day," Scott said.

"In any chamber of commerce, the caliber, character and integrity of the leadership determines the caliber, character and integrity of the chamber," he said.

"To a much too marked degree, we, as individuals, have passed over individual responsibilities to organizations. We depend on them for action—for leadership.

"The emergence of the organization in our society as the source of action is community, state or national problems imposes a grave responsibility on your chamber of commerce. Are you assuming that leadership?"

Snow Belt Gets Arctic Weather

By The Associated Press

Cold weather zeroed in on the snow-covered areas from the eastern Rockies into the north central region today, adding discomfort to the massive job of snow removal.

A mass of arctic air, clear skies and the heavy snow covering combined to drop temperatures below zero across sections of at least 10 states. The frigid belt covered areas of Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Michigan and Iowa.

The mercury plunged to 26 below at Hibbing, in northern Minnesota.

Two heavy snow storms hit most of the cold belt in the last week. The second was described as the worst in many years in some states.

The storm forced hundreds of schools to close, stalled thousands of cars and jammed traffic.

The blanket of white in upper Michigan and other Midwest areas hit by the storms averaged about two feet, with more than four feet in some parts of Marquette, Mich., beside Lake Superior.

The tail end of the storm whipped sections of the Great Lakes during the night with snow squalls and icy winds.

A cold front moving across the eastern coast toward the Atlantic triggered rain from Maine to northern Florida. More than three inches of rain drenched Tallahassee, Fla., in a 12-hour period.

Fog shrouded areas in the East Friday, including New York City, Newark, N.J., Boston, Philadelphia and upstate New York, curtailing air travel.

All operations at Kennedy Airport in New York and International Airport in Philadelphia were halted for several hours.

In the West, it was cold in parts of Arizona and New Mexico. The 16 below reading at Flagstaff, Ariz., was a record low for Feb. 12. At Phoenix the high of 50 was a low record maximum for the date. Friday's low was 28.

In other parts of the West temperatures were generally near seasonal levels. Light rain fell in the Pacific Northwest.

Cite Regulation For Installing Water Heaters

Escanaba Fire Chief Nels Bergeon is directing attention to the City's uniform fire code as it applies to the installation and use of water heaters, which is designed to raise the standards for such equipment and safeguard the people.

The fire code provides in part:

No water heater shall be installed in a sleeping room, bath room, clothes closet, under stairs or landings, and in a confined space with access only to the above locations.

Gas hot water heaters shall be located as close as practicable to the chimney or approved gas vent. They shall be located so as to provide short runs of piping to fixtures.

Hot water heaters installed in garages must be guarded against mechanical injury.

An enclosure or recess for a water heater must be sufficiently large so that it can be readily accessible for servicing and adjustment.

All installations must have sufficient clearance in relation to combustible materials. These minimum distances are stipulated in the fire code.

Every gas or electric hot water heater must have a safety water temperature relief valve and fully automatic controls, including a gas shut-off valve on line near appliance.

All gas hot water heaters must be vented to a chimney or vented to an approved pipe and to the outside atmosphere.

Deepen Lakes, Industry Asks

The five Great lakes are "drying up" and filling in. But American waterway exponents want them made suitable for traffic with larger ships.

A bold campaign has been launched to persuade the United States and Canadian governments to deepen the lakes' major channels and harbors from 27 to 35 feet. With the larger ships, the lakes fleet would be made more efficient.

And the American steel industry, so dependent on Great Lakes shipping, would also be more competitive.

The campaign for deepening the lakes channels and harbors is being pushed by the Lake Carriers Association. Robert W. Taber, assistant to the president of Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., operator of a lake fleet, is making a series of lectures to stir up interest in the program.

Its cost probably would be several hundreds millions of dollars.

Taber visualizes giant lake ships 1,000 feet long, 100 feet wide, drawing up to 33 or 34 feet of water. They could carry 50,000 tons of cargo per trip.

For decades, the largest lake ships were 600-footers, carrying a maximum of 13,000 or 14,000 tons of cargo. World War II needs for greater tonnages of iron ore and opening of the MacArthur Lock at Sault Ste. Marie, made it practical to build some larger ships.

Now the largest lake ships are 730 feet long, 75 feet wide, and draw 24 to 25 feet. They carry up to 25,000 tons — and at much faster speeds than the 12 or 13 miles an hour of the fast ships in World War II days.

Taber points out that ocean-going ships carry up to three or four times as much as the largest lake ships. Some of these carry up to 80,000 to 100,000 tons.

Such big ships on the lakes, he contends, will enable lake-fleet operators to cut their transportation rates. Their principal customers, the American steel mills, in turn, would have a better opportunity to cut their costs to meet foreign competition.

During 1964, levels of the lakes were down from five inches to a foot below the normal. Each inch of draft of the larger ships represents ability to load 200 to 400 tons of cargo. Lower water meant that some larger ships had to carry up to 1,000 to 2,000 tons less per trip.

Millar To Retire As Lands Chief

LANSING — Charles E. Millar, chief of the Conservation Department's lands section for the last 14 years, is retiring from state service Feb. 20 because of health reasons.

In stepping down from his post, he will end a 40-year career with the Department which started with the former land economic survey division in 1925 at a time when that unit was studying potentials of Michigan's northern wild lands.

Upon Millar's retirement next week, Joseph D. Stephansky will fill in as acting chief of the section. He will serve in that position until a Civil Service examination is held and a man is picked from a certified register of candidates to head the section.

Democrats May Be Embarrassed On Tax Reform

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Michigan Democrats meet today and Sunday to:

— Conduct a routine convention which is virtually certain to elect State Chairman Zolton Ferency.

— Politic backstage about choices for legislative auditor and national committeeman.

— Consider a resolution calling for tax reform which could embarrass Democratic legislators if it is passed.

Based on declarations favoring tax reform from more than 50 county and district party conventions, such a resolution is given a good chance to win approval from delegates.

Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, convention chairman and a leading advocate of immediate fiscal reform, says he thinks some sort of supporting resolution will be passed.

But Majority Leader Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, says "it would be a mistake for them to pass one. We (Senate Democrats) are having our studies made. We know the situation more than those on the outside."

Republican Gov. George Romney and the Democratic majorities in the legislature have been waiting around the subject of tax reform, neither wanting to get into a position that could bring on any sort of major defeat—including one at the polls in 1966.

Dzendzel conceded that party passage of a reform resolution would put pressure on Democratic legislators to get into an immediate fiscal program with Romney.

Two For Auditor

Democratic legislators also are expected to try to spread the word quietly that they don't want other party people interfering with their selection of a legislative auditor.

The five-man contest reportedly has narrowed to a battle between Albert Lee, a Detroit accountant, and Richard Austin, co-author of the state's apportionment plan.

Ferency irritated some legislators Thursday when he spoke out in favor of Austin. Influential Democrat August Scholle, state AFL-CIO president, is in the Austin camp against the wishes of some union leaders.

"We're the ones who have to make up our minds," said Dzendzel. "We have the votes."

The national committeeman job isn't open yet—but former Gov. John Swainson is expected to resign when he's elected a judge in April. Party leadership appears to be trying to stir public interest in the contest by periodically listing seven or more names of contenders.

Most often mentioned are defeated gubernatorial candidate Neil Staebler and State Treasurer Sanford Brown.

Power Play

Staebler's bid to regain his committee seat has stirred opposition from Democrats who don't want the former congressman to regain the power position he once held in the party. He was state chairman and chief organizer during 10 years of the 12-year reign of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Staebler claims support of 19 Democratic county organizations and August Scholle, state AFL-CIO president, and other influential Democrats, but his strength in Wayne (Detroit) County, the seat of Democratic power, was not showing. The national committeeman issue isn't expected to come before the convention formally unless Staebler forces move to ask the delegates to express their support.

Such a move might trigger a struggle like that which split the convention two years ago when former Governor John B. Swainson led a drive to force out Chairman Joe Collins, backed by Staebler and replace him with Zolton Ferency.

APRIL FOOLS' DAY

April Fools' Day is said to have originated in France in 1564, when the reformed calendar was adopted, confusing everybody. From this sprang the modern custom of playing harmless tricks and jokes upon one's friends.

CCI Says Gas Will Cut Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — R. J. LaBelle, a metallurgist for the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., testified Friday that use of natural gas in the company's six taconite plants in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan would be economical.

LaBelle said at a hearing before examiner Francis L. Hall of the Federal Power Commission that Cleveland Cliffs would save $600,000 a year by using natural gas in the plants instead of oil and coal.

The FPC has before it two competing applications to supply natural gas to the area.

Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha seeks authority to spend $35.7 million on a project to supply gas to 26 communities and seven industrial customers in the area.

Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., and Michigan Wisconsin, an affiliate, proposed a $15.8 million joint project to serve 36 communities and an iron ore plant.

As soon as natural gas is assured, LaBelle said, orders will be placed for the necessary burners to convert operations to the use of gas. He estimated the cost of conversion would be about $200,000 and it would take from six to eight months.

Niemann Engine Has Powers In Hope Of Fame

By JEAN WORTH

Earlier in this century there was a much greater expectancy of wealth from two sources than there is today in the Upper Peninsula.

One of them was an inheritance from a rich relative in Europe. The other was royalties from an invention.

While Upper Peninsulans merely waited for the first and greeted each inquiry from a foreign attorney on whereabouts of relatives with the enthusiasm of an heir-to-be, they plunged actively into the business of inventing.

Many of the inventions never got to the patent stage, but a surprising number of them did. Menominee County was an active incubator for inventions before World War I and created quite a few even after that fertile period of kindergarten science and do-it-yourself.

A mechanical stone picker, a hand washer agitator, a 10-block shingle machine, an acetylene welding machine, a bottle filler, a corkscrew, an agitator for a paper machine screen were only some of the inventions of Menominee persons and their ingenuity turned out a seaplane that almost flew, a motor truck (the Menominee, a famed and successful machine in America's early automotive era), a cycle car, the "Dudley Bug", electric paging systems, the Christy register for store account keeping, guns, bear traps, ice yachts, sawmills and other mechanical marvels.

Creating Inventions

In the postwar period Marshall B. Lloyd invented the Lloyd Loom (while his factory was struck by rattan weavers) and became a millionaire and the city's largest employer.

Invention has passed—at least in the public mind—from a lone Thomas A. Edison working on innovations to a technical "team" turning out new ideas, but the individual still is the spark maker of inventions. His ideas may have to be translated into realities by technicians with special knowledge, but ideas still are precious to progress and many important ones still come from hobbyists and lay innovators, not scientists and specialists.

Right now Powers-Spalding is excited about the orbital type engine that Walter Niemann of Powers has invented and patented. Al Kinberg and Willard Ledger of the U. P. Machine & Engineering Co., who operate a busy machine shop in Powers, have created the first prototype Niemann engine and are testing and developing it and automotive engineers are visiting their shop to see what they've got.

It doesn't cost much to think today, but if you want to execute your thoughts in prototype engines you'd better have some money, or friends like Al Kinberg and Willard Ledger. Or, preferably, both skilled friends and money.

Creating Corporation

David Farrand, industrial development specialist of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress, is helping organize a corporation with $50,000 of risk capital to develop the engine. Farrand is impressed both with the motor and the possibilities of making something important out of it. Typical of such efforts, with a blending of local patriotism and economic hope, there's a clause in the policy that says the motor must be made near Powers-Spalding. Its sponsors hope not only to strike it rich, but also to benefit their home area the way the Mayo Brothers helped Rochester, Minn.

Engine men talk a special lingo and have enthusiasms that are beyond the non-mechanical man. Walter Niemann talks this lingo although he is neither an engineer nor a mechanic. A native of Menominee County, he was a football great at the University of Michigan and later a garageman at Menominee. He has sold a lot of Hudsons and Essexes and that latter distinction must trouble his conscience a bit today but he was inventive then and has been ever since. He'll be 71 in a couple months and he's still fusing with inventions.

He dreamed up his first orbital type motor in 1943 and got a patent on it in 1947. He was trying to build an infinite variable speed shift in a mechanical adaptation, but failed. Then he tried to build one with hydraulic principle and its difficulties taught him the principle that he has incorporated in his orbital type engine.

New Principle

The conventional internal combustion engine has a piston which compresses the vaporized fuel and then explodes it by discharge of an electric spark. The blast pushes the piston down and the motion turns a crank with a connecting rod. The crank transmits the power thus generated to the wheels or pulley or whatever device the engine is powering.

Niemann's orbital type engine uses the crankshaft itself as a sort of piston in his first three-cylinder motor, although actually there are no "cylinders", just the internal cavity of the motor block with a triangular crankshaft with offset shaft.

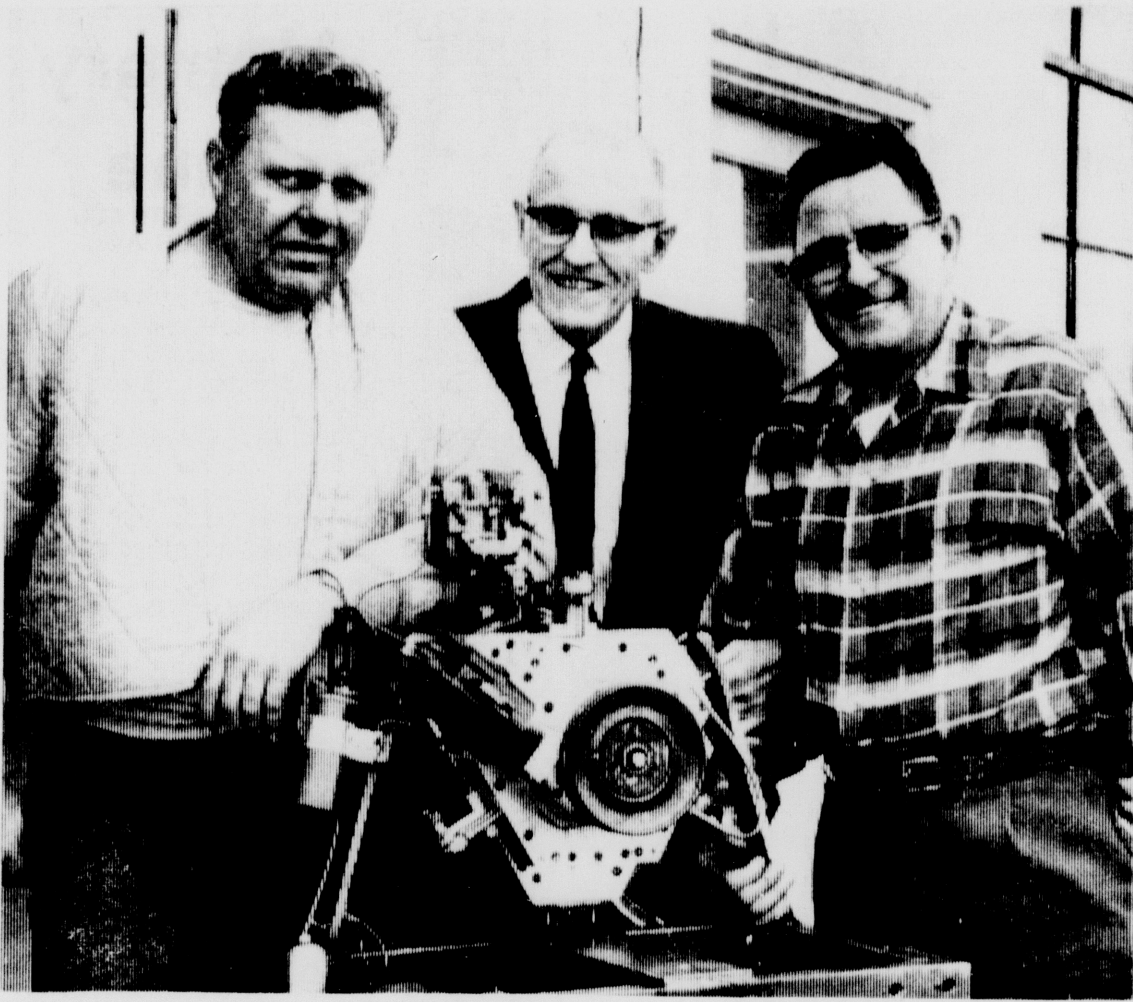

Current development work on the engine is on changes in the carburetion by manifold sizing and in better sealing of the compression with a unique "piston" ring in triangular shape with three projections. Niemann foresees many uses for his engine, with advantages over other engines in its lighter weight, fuel economy, compactness and increased horsepower per unit of displacement.

"Those automotive engineers don't come up here just to make us feel good," he says. "They're interested. We've got something."

The atmosphere of the venture is like the Night Before Christmas.

Ask Residents To Shovel Out Fire Hydrants

Residents of Escanaba today were reminded by Fire Chief Nels Borgeon that they will be doing themselves and others a service if they shovel out the fire hydrants in their block when they shovel their sidewalks.

Fire hydrants surrounded by snow could cause serious delay in the event of fire. By keeping the hydrants clear of snow they can be easily located and hoses attached. Today, the fire chief pointed out.

Education Bills Up Next Week

LANSING (AP) — The entire Senate membership is sponsoring two bills to extend some auxiliary education and health services to students in private and parochial schools.

The bills, bearing 37 signatures each, were to be introduced in the Senate Monday—one of the few times in Senate history that every member serving signed a bill. One seat is vacant.

Sen. Roger Craig, D-Deerborn, is serving as chief sponsor.

Backed By Governor

The extension of the services also is backed by Gov. George Romney. It is covered by a $1.5 million appropriation in his 1965-66 budget.

Alexander Kloster, deputy state school superintendent, estimated the cost of the extension at $1.75 million.

Included are the services of speech correctionists, teacher counselors for the physically handicapped, teachers for the severely mentally handicapped, consultants for the emotionally disturbed, as well as school diagnosticians for the mentally handicapped and visiting teachers.

The education bill calls for services "on an equal basis" for all students living in a district, health and nursing services and examinations, street crossing guards, national defense education act testing services. No classroom teachers are involved — only traveling personnel.

All Schools Included

The teachers, consultants and diagnosticians still would be hired by the public school district, but they would include private and parochial schools in their rounds.

The health services bill provides "examination and health services on an equal basis to school children in attendance in the elementary and secondary grades in both public and non-public schools."

The state now pays 75 per cent of the cost of the visiting teachers and consultants, counselors and diagnosticians up to a maximum of $5,850 each per year.

Some districts might benefit from the proposed legislation. Several of the programs involved require certain student population levels before a district qualifies. The addition of the parochial students to their populations may make them large enough to qualify, Kloster added.

Renewed

ECORSE—The Ecorse board of education has renewed the contract of Ralph E. Brant, superintendent of schools for the last 17 years, and former superintendent at Menominee, for one year effective July 1.

At a special meeting before an audience of nearly 200 persons the board voted, 4-3, for the short-term contract. Brant has previously received three-year contracts. A week ago the board voted not to renew his contract, although more than 500 persons signed petitions seeking renewal of Brant's contract which expires June 30.

Brant, 60, said the real issue at stake is to "keep working for a better school system for the boys and girls of Ecorse."

Fire Destroys Trailer Home

BARK RIVER — A young rural Bark River couple, frustrated in efforts to summon help by heavy snow and downed telephone wires, were left homeless for the second time in 16 months early today when fire destroyed their house trailer home.

Victims were Vernon Erickson, 22, and his wife, Elaine, of Rte. 1, Bark River.

Firemen said the trailer and its contents — except for a small table — were a total loss. The fire is believed to have started when the furnace in the trailer overheated.

The Ericksons, who have no children, escaped injury.

Chief Herman Palmgren of the Bark River Volunteer Fire Dept. said that by the time his crews reached the scene it was too late to save anything. The trailer, a 45-footer bought about a year ago was located about a half mile off Co. Rd. 535 on snowbound Co. Rd. B-18.

Palmgren said the Ericksons also were burned out of a farm home on Oct. 3, 1963. Damage in that fire was estimated in excess of $1,000 and the house was not rebuilt.

Palmgren said Erickson reported the fire at 5:15 a. m., after struggling about a half mile through 4-feet of snow to reach a second neighbor's home.

Erickson told firemen that he discovered the fire about 4 a. m. when he awoke and smelled smoke. After arousing his wife and leading her to safety in the car, he started after help.

Palmgren said the fire department's heavy tanker truck was unable to get to the scene immediately because drifting snow four-feet deep had blocked the road.

The truck finally reached the scene at 6:20 a. m. after it was pulled from the drifts by County plows. It followed the plows to the scene.

When You Slip

Escanaba Municipal Judge James Fitzharris heard the case of a 20-year-old high school student, a youth leader and nice young person, and fined him $105 or 30 days in jail for running 6 stop signs in a 50-mile-an-hour chase on icy streets.

What would have happened if a car had come along on any of the stop streets — counting on their security — can be imagined. A fatality would have been likely.

The police officer pursuing the youth had been hospitalized after another such chase which resulted in an insurance settlement of $23,500 on a chase crash victim.

"I am deeply concerned about this problem," said Judge Fitzharris. "When people have committed a little offense and panic and flee the police, they commit a serious offense and create a great danger. They do it out of fear apparently. They have no experience with the law and instead of taking a ticket for a three and two deal ($5 fine and costs) they flee the officer who is trying to protect them by keeping traffic safe.

"Young people shouldn't be afraid of the police. They're not ogres. Why compound the difficulties of a ticket for a minor traffic violation by starting a chase? Don't run away."

Aid To Industry

The forest is the greatest single natural resource in Northern Michigan and forest industry and recreation are regarded by economic developers as the area's best bets for growth of income.

Costs are the crucial element in wood industry. How do our pulpwoods and sawlogs and veneer logs compare in price with those from other areas in the same markets? A big item of logging cost is insurance.

Logging is hazardous and when there's a logging accident it can be a very bad one, involving long hospital care and possible total incapacitation or death. This jacks up rates to a point where they became nearly a fifth of payroll in the past. This is a logging problem of huge dimensions.

Employers Mutuals of Wausau and other underwriters of such insurance have conducted logging safety campaigns under the direction of such able safety engineers as Marvin Pearson of Escanaba which, with the active cooperation of the logging industry have reduced accident frequency substantially.

As a result the rates for 1965 have been reduced $3.80 per $100 of payroll, from $16.92 to $13.12, a reduction of 22 per cent. This is a great aid to the logging industry, making it more competitive with other areas and giving it a better chance for profits.

Ask The Dentist

By ALFRED E. SEYLER, D. D. S.

and Michigan Dental Assn.

Dr. James Hayward, professor of oral surgery at the University of Michigan School of Dentistry, has recently published an article telling of the results obtained by himself and his co-workers in the transplantation of teeth from one position to another in an individual mouth.

This should be of more than scientific interest to most of us, for if the procedure and technic become routinely successful, it would be a boon to many of our patients. For example, it is common knowledge that many wisdom teeth, or third molars, do not come into the mouth in proper position, or that they are impacted or covered by bone and never can come in. While all teeth are originally covered by the jaw bone, most of them come into their proper position without too much difficulty. In the case of those teeth which follow the baby teeth, if the baby tooth is lost too early, the second tooth may be prevented from coming in, or it may come in crooked, or it may push the other teeth around as it tries to come in, and produce crooked or crowded teeth.

Wisdom teeth, however, are often extracted before they can cause too much trouble, for we have learned that it is a lot easier for a young patient to have a wisdom tooth extracted than it is to wait until a person is older.

Dr. Hayward is hopeful that some day we may have "tooth banks", much the same as we have eye-banks and blood banks, so that instead of replacing a lost tooth with a bridge, we may transplant a replacement from a "bank."

Wisdom teeth from young adults are the choice for such transplanting, because the roots of such teeth are not fully developed, and the tissue and cells in the area of the transplantation accept the new tooth. If a transplant is to be successful, the nerves and blood vessels which are severed during extraction must be able to repair themselves and to keep the tooth vital.

Some transplant teeth have continued to be live teeth and to function satisfactorily for more than 10 years, which in many instances might be long enough to permit other teeth to mature and become capable of supporting a bridge.

Q. I've read that new teeth can be installed into the gums after a magnet or pegs for new teeth have been placed. I have an upper plate and need a lower partial now. Are there any dangers to this procedure. I am 66 years old.

A. From the more detailed description of your case in your letter, I do not think the procedure involving magnets or pegs are what you need.

The use of magnets in dentures is usually confined to full upper and lower dentures, not to partial dentures. In addition, the use of magnets is not general or common. Only certain situations indicate their use, such as when there is practically no ridge left, on which a denture may rest with comfort and good function.

As to the use of pegs on which a denture rests, this is a technic used only for full dentures. It is called implant denture technic, and is used only for full dentures. It is a highly selective type of denture service, performed by dentists who have made a specialty of this procedure. Very few implant dentures are made in comparison to the usual dentures, and they are indicated only as a last resort, when ordinary procedures will not serve the purpose.

Partial dentures are sometimes constructed with their clasps or attachments being designed to fit certain shaped teeth or crowns which may be placed over the natural teeth in an effort to provide better retention or retention without using the usual clasps which are used for partial dentures.

Your dentist should be able to explain the different methods of partial denture retention to you in relation to your own personal situation. I suggest you have study models and X-rays taken by him so that he can actually demonstrate to you what you can have done.

Malting Barley Ordered For U.P. Malingering To Get Aid Told

Larker barley has been approved as a recommended malting variety for Michigan by the crop science department of Michigan State University. Other varieties are Traill and Trophy.

The Michigan Foundation Seed Association will obtain foundation seed from North Dakota to supply certified seed growers this spring. This will make Michigan certified seed of Larker available in 1966.

Traill will remain in the approved list, according to MSU crop scientist John Grafius. He says the change-over of varieties will necessitate care to avoid mixtures of Traill and Larker.

The two varieties germinate at different rates and can be malting together. This will call for cooperation on the part of farmers and elevator operators to avoid mixture.

"The problem of mixtures is not new and will remain with us," explains Grafius. "If the malting barley acreage is to increase new varieties must be developed and released. With this in mind, it is highly desirable that thought be given prior to harvest on the handling of the crop."

In a trial plot at the Hilding Olson farm in 1964, Traill and Trophy were compared. Traill showed up better than Trophy.

With proper fertilization we can grow good barley for malting, like anything else however, there are hazards. If the barley gets badly discolored due to adverse weather conditions at harvest one may have to sell for feed barley.

Farmers wanting to try this new venture should try with a few acres and see how it might work into their overall farming program.

MENOMINEE — "A number of students have the wrong idea about the vocational rehabilitation program," Charles H. Trebilcock, coordinator for division of vocational rehabilitation, State Department of Public Instruction, told the Menominee board of education.

"Many students think just because they have a slight disability they are entitled to four years of college education. This is not true. A student will only go as far in the vocational training program as his ability allows," Trebilcock said.

Dr. Herman Brukardt, a member of the school board, added, "I've been working with you on some of these cases for the past 10 years. I know of a boy right here in the high school who had a knee problem but he told me he didn't want it corrected 100 per cent because if he has a disability he will be entitled to four years of college education. Because of his knee I told him not to go out for football, but he's playing basketball every day."

"There is a teacher who has been informing the students that 'all you have to do is frown and you have a disability.' This is a heck of an attitude to put in a senior. I think the kids in this school should be informed that this is a guide to vocational and not for four years of college education," Dr. Brukardt said.

Trebilcock, who has been with the state department for 10 years, said, "We're primarily concerned with people who have various types and degrees of difficulty, such as physical, mental or emotional handicaps." The program also offers medical services.

Finding The Way

Faith Bolsters Spirit

By RALPH W. LOEW, D. D.

For many sections of the country, February is a tired time of the year. Spring seems a long way off. It's the 2 a.m. period of the year when breakfast seems distant. Well, all things pass and that includes February. But there's a February spirit that infects people who may even be enjoying the sunshine of warm climates, an introspective weariness that drains the zest out of life.

Even an indefatigable Albert Schweitzer could know this weariness. He recently celebrated his 90th birthday, marking more than 50 years of service in Lambarene. His humanitarianism has been a saga of the 20th century. He was his own Peace Corps long before others had dreamed of such ventures. Yet he has known weariness.

"One day, in my despair," he writes, "I threw myself into a chair in the consulting room and groaned out, 'What a blockhead I was to come here to doctor savages like these.'"

Whereupon Joseph (Schweitzer's native helper) quietly remarked, "Yes, doctor, here on earth you are a great blockhead, but not in heaven."

There's some comfort in knowing that the great have known their despair and have seen through almost a century with an undiscouraged faith.

It takes more than dogged determination to do this. It's the ability to see beyond the present. That man who has learned from history and has faith in some ultimates has won his first round of the battle. Saint Paul knew this and called to his fellow churchmen in Galatia, "Let us not grow tired of doing good, for, unless we throw in our hand, the ultimate harvest is assured." It brought the ultimate into the present.

Most of us are tired of being told not to be tired. It's really not the weariness that matters. It's the sag of the spirit, the loss of elasticity, the rigidity and ouchiness of the continuing burden that keeps a man of faith from remembering that there is a spring or a breakfast.

We get tired when we're just holding the fort instead of fighting for a cause.

We get tired when we think we're blockheaded by keeping some ideals instead of understanding the eternal worth of those values.

We're tired when we see we can't quit and yet see no sense in it.

It's our inadequacy of faith that creates the weariness.

Watch a man stare at his own shuffling feet. Watch him stumble into the traffic which surges by. He hears but he does not hear. He knows but he does not understand. He's in danger in that traffic. That's what's happened to most of us in the world and it's a good time in mid-February to "be not weary in well-doing." There are weeks until spring and hours until breakfast but it's not a time to throw in the hand!

Weak Hand For U.S.

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There is concern in the State Department and Pentagon over President Johnson's proposed trip to the Soviet Union.

Viet Nam assuredly will come up in the Moscow talks. As things in Viet Nam stand now, Brezhnev and Kosygin will be dealing from strength, Johnson from weakness.

This is no way to assure a free South Viet Nam.

"Why couldn't he wait until we're ahead in the Viet Nam war and had Hanoi and Moscow worried about what might happen to North Viet Nam?" asks one official unhappily. "I'm afraid of what will happen in talks under today's circumstances, when we're not doing so well against the Viet Cong."

Says another official: "When you ask someone to give up something that's going his way, you must have something to offer. If we were only on the offensive somewhere in the world — anywhere. But that's what comes from not taking the initiative. The President doesn't have many bargaining cards in his hand."

The question being asked behind closed doors in the Pentagon and the State Department is simple:

How much will President Johnson's strong desire to go down in history as the man who worked out a peaceful end to the Soviet-U. S. cold war influence what he agrees to on Viet Nam?

Will the President, for example, consent to a face-saving solution like the one in China after World War II, which resulted in a Communist takeover?

These officials remember what happened to President Franklin D. Roosevelt at Yalta. They're not happy either about Laos, even though some of them favored the Laos solution at the time "as the only way out."

These questions come up because Johnson and his advisers have made it clear both at the Defense and State Departments that Johnson considers a Kremlin-White House rapprochement his "role" in foreign affairs.

It can be stated with authority:

1. That Johnson believes President John Kennedy made a real breakthrough in U. S. relations with the men in the Kremlin.

2. He considers his election a people's mandate to make something out of that breakthrough.

The Pentagon and Department of State worriers know President Johnson has a great deal of confidence in his personal ability to negotiate with the sharp brains in the Kremlin. He has, moreover, a strong belief in his ability to convert others to his way of thinking. These worriers feel he may have too much confidence.

Johnson came out of the Senate renowned for his shrewd bargaining abilities in competition with a group of very able bargainers. But the worried diplomats and defense men think he may underestimate the cannyness of Brezhnev, Kosygin, Mikoyan, Podgorny, Suslov and Polyansky, who have fought their way to the top in a political situation much rougher even than Johnson has been used to.

Hanna Mining Co. Earnings Highest

Net income of Hanna Mining Co. in 1964 was $14,057,000, or $3.29 per share of common stock, establishing a new high for the third consecutive year. This compares with 1963 earnings of $12,353,000 or $2.89 per share, adjusted to reflect a three-for-one stock split in May, 1964. "The increase in our earnings reflects the higher consumption of iron ore over that of a year ago," said W. A. Marting, president.

"Old Three Toes" is dead. The bear that seems to have led a charmed life and caused hundreds of dollars worth of damage to livestock in the Cornell vicinity, is now hanging by his heels at the Phillip Lippens farm.

Certain slopes of the Porcupine mountain region are now being transformed into a ski area with the hope of making it one of the most popular ski regions in the country.

A persistent daily fall of snow, each one heavy, has been a severe pain in the neck to city crews. The time has come when the truck drivers who cart it away are at a loss to know where to put it.

Pretty sure bet: While you are reading this, South Viet Nam will change its government again.

In a reapportionment hassle, 25 state senators are sponsoring bills to split California into two separate states. A 51st state? "Oh, no!" groan the poor flag makers.

The Old Cynic says "Nowadays 'Honest Abe' sounds like a used car lot owner and 'Lincoln' like one of his bargains."

Moralists who decry burning the candle at both ends can now save their breath. Stores are advertising a new candle designed for that very purpose.

Ann Landers

This Boy Isn't Grown Up Yet

Dear Ann Landers: My fiance, might give. — FLORADORA GIRL

Bob, and I are both 20. We have been going together for two years. Bob wants to be married next May. My problem is that I don't know if I should marry him. Here is an example of what worries me.

Friday night we planned to go to the movies. The last complete show started at 10:05. We arrived at the box-office at 10:15 and found it closed.

Bob was so furious he pulled out of the parking lot like a maniac and careened down the street at a dangerously high rate of speed. He kept saying "I have to get this out of my system."

Finally he swerved off to a side-street and drove into an alley. He brought the car to a screeching halt and put his head in his hands and cried. I sat silent for about 10 minutes while he sobbed. Suddenly he changed the subject and was extremely pleasant as we rode back to my house.

I'm afraid Bob may take his erratic temper out on me after we are married. What do you think? — DESPERATE

Dear Desperate: A 20-year-old man who deals with frustration at an infantile level is the worst possible husband material. This boy needs psychiatric help, not a wife. And you need to go with others for two years at least, to see if the young man is ever going to grow up.

The letter below is from a woman who married such a man. Please read on:

Dear Ann Landers: Can you help me? My husband has a TNT temper. I try awfully hard not to rile him — even to the point where I have memorized a list of things I must not do, or subjects I must not bring up. It is useless. One wrong word and the table or chair gets a kick or I am in for a terrible tongue lashing.

On the highway he is forever cursing the other drivers, trying to pass them if he feels they have passed him "for spite." He takes everything as a personal affront — a chance shove in a crowded area is always "on purpose." If it rains on a day he had planned to do some gardening he just sits and sulks for hours — won't even read.

Worst of all is his violent temper. He explodes over nothing and now I am the target. What can I do so his outbursts do not hurt so much? Thank you for any help you

Roads Unplugged After Big Storm

Snow fighters were out in force today clearing streets, walks and highways of drifts that had all but halted wheel traffic throughout the Northern Michigan region on Friday.

Only a few side roads badly plugged by the storm were still closed today and they were expected to be opened soon. The clearing of driveways in the county will follow and conditions are expected to be back to normal by Monday morning. Schools were closed on Friday but will be open for classes as usual on Monday. A number of public events scheduled for Friday evening were cancelled because of the storm.

Warming Trend
Clearing and colder followed the storm, with the temperature plunging to zero in Escanaba last night, it is reported by the weather Bureau. It had risen to only 1 above by 7 a.m. today but the prospect is for warmer weather, the Bureau reported.

Tonight will continue cold with a low of about 2 degrees above zero and the high on Sunday will be about 20 above. Winds will shift to the south on Sunday, however, and the outlook for Monday is for rising temperatures.

City and county road crews were busy throughout the night pushing back the snow and punching holes in the drifts.

Got 28 Inches
The worst of the storm dumped up to 28 inches of snow on the Marquette area, plus winds that gusted up to 55 miles an hour.

Houghton had some 6 inches and there was 3 to 4 inches in the Sault Ste. Marie area.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Detroit said today that the Houghton area still was being pelted with flurries but that it had stopped snowing at Marquette.

Most of the main roads in the Upper Peninsula were cleared of snow by today but many side roads remained blocked. The storm forced many Upper Michigan schools to close Friday, and high school basketball games were canceled Friday night.

Admiral Smith New Commander Of Coast Guard

CLEVELAND — Rear Admiral Willard J. Smith will assume command of the Ninth Coast Guard District this summer, relieving Rear Admiral Chester R. Bender, who has commanded the Great Lakes District since last June.

Admiral Smith will come to Cleveland, which is headquarters for all the Coast Guard on the Great Lakes, from New London, Conn., where he has been superintendent of the Coast Guard Academy since 1962. Admiral Bender will become the new Academy superintendent.

The son of a Coast Guard warrant officer, Admiral Smith was born at Suttons Bay, Mich., in 1910, and has previously served on the Great Lakes on two occasions. He was commanding officer of the Coast Guard Air Station in Traverse City from 1946 to 1948, and was in command of the icebreaker Mackinaw from 1952 to 1954.

He was graduated from Charlevoix High School and attended the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, before entering the Coast Guard Academy. He was graduated from the Academy and commissioned ensign on May 15, 1933.

Attempt Made To Nullify Rule On Districting

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional attempt is under way to nullify the Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote rule on the makeup of state legislatures.

In the House, 68 proposed constitutional amendments have been introduced, but their authors now are uniting in an effort to come up with a single plan.

In the Senate, hearings on 40 proposed amendments are to begin early next month.

Twenty-four states now are under court order to redistrict. A dozen already have.

Harriman Will Be Replaced

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson announced Friday a high-level shakeup at the State Department with Averell Harriman to be replaced by Johnson's old friend, Thomas C. Mann, in the No. 3 post.

Mann, now assistant secretary for inter-American affairs, will become undersecretary for economic affairs. Harriman, who has held this undersecretaryship, will become an ambassador-at-large.

Succeeding Mann in the inter-American assignment will be Jack Hood Vaughn, now ambassador to Panama.

George E. Reedy, White House press secretary, announced Johnson's plans to nominate the three officials for the new assignments. He reported that the shifts were prompted by a Harriman request to be relieved of administrative burdens.

Rusk Not Leaving
Reedy said Harriman, an old-time New Dealer and former Democratic governor of New York, "will handle specific high-level assignments in the department and abroad." He did not elaborate.

Reedy was questioned about the continued absence from Washington of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who is in Cocoa Beach, Fla., where he went to recuperate from a cold.

Reedy said published speculation that Rusk might either be out of sympathy with current American policy in Viet Nam or perhaps was sicker than announced "are totally speculations with no basis whatever."

One reporter asked if Rusk had resigned.

"Mr. Rusk is going to be around here for quite some time," Reedy said.

With Rusk retaining the secretaryship, the No. 2 State Department post remains in the hands of Undersecretary George W. Ball.

Duties Unchanged
Harriman has been the No. 3 man, with the title of undersecretary for political affairs.

Although Mann will have a slightly different title — undersecretary for economic affairs — his duties will be unchanged from those performed by Harriman. By law, the second undersecretary can be designated either as a specialist in political or economic affairs.

Reedy said Mann's designation reflected great interest by Johnson in economic affairs and his hope of placing new emphasis on foreign economic policy — a major item in the light of the nagging balance of payments problem.

During the Eisenhower administration, Mann once served as assistant secretary of state for economic affairs.

NAHA, Okinawa (AP) — A Naha firm today began salvaging the freighter Union Pacific which ran aground last December off Naha port.

Watch Your Baggage!

Robert Shaw, head of the baggage transfer division of Allied Maintenance Corp. at Kennedy International Airport in New York, supervises the arrival, departure and interline transfer of 1.2 million pieces of luggage yearly for 21 airlines. He has some tips for air travelers—what the passenger can do to speed his bag to his destination.

Check it. Note clarity of your baggage tag. A busy airline clerk in haste may write an airline code to look like another. Example: United (UA), Viasa (VA), National (NA).

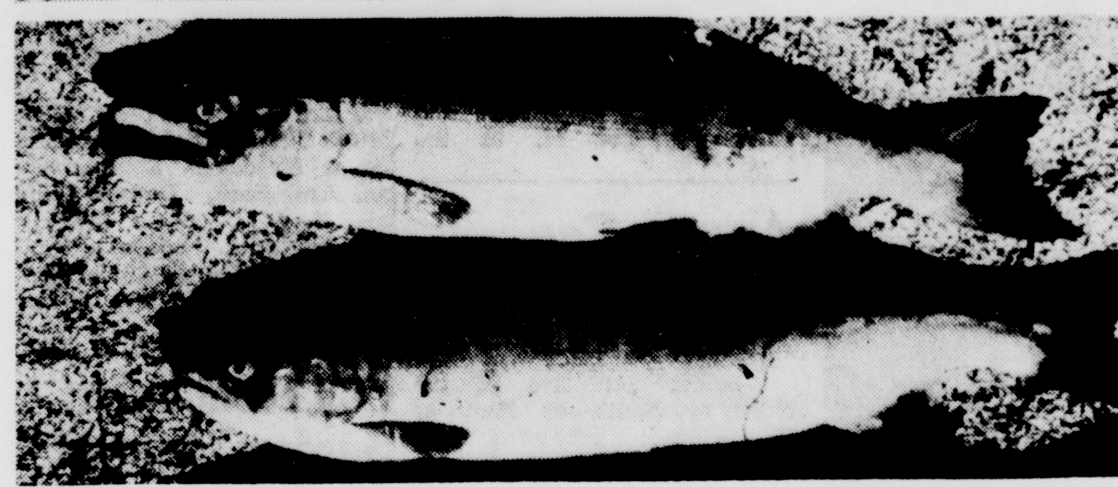

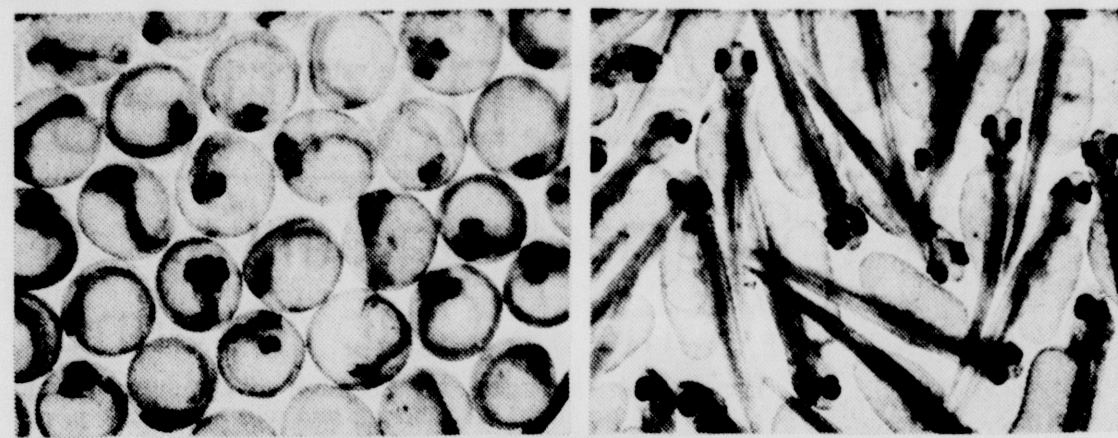

Lock it. A bag can pass through as many as 12 different hands in a high-speed transfer for a normal flight. Luggage bursting open could cause delay and a missed flight.

Tap it. Two pieces of reflective tape over the closure offer double protection against the bag accidentally opening. Makes it easier to spot at baggage pickup, too.

Name it. Initials alone are not much help if luggage strays. Tape your full name and address across the top, or put your business card under the handle.

Take it. Carry in the cabin whenever possible fragile items and items such as aerosol shave cream. Strange things can happen in the plane's nonpressurized cargo space.

Ask questions. If transferring, make sure your travel clerk has allowed enough time for your luggage to catch up with you. At JFK, for example, 35 minutes may be needed from arrival to departure.

A SPORT FISH new to Michigan — the Kokanee salmon — is being "egged along" this winter by the Conservation Department to set the stage for introductory plantings in Higgins and Torch lakes in the spring. Several hundred thousand eggs from the State of Washington (top left) have already hatched and passed through the sac-fry stage (top right) at the Department's Oden and Harrietta hatcheries. Together with survivors from about 212 million Colorado eggs bound for the two hatcheries in February, they will be reared to fry size before their release. If all goes well, this imported species will eventually be planted in the Great Lakes, and several large inland lakes. — Michigan Department of Conservation.

Junkyard Dive Kills 2 Fliers

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A cargo plane crashed into an automobile junkyard and exploded today, narrowly missing a residential area in northwest Miami.

Flames quickly consumed the cabin and fuselage of the plane. Both occupants apparently were killed.

They were identified by the plane's owner as Geronimo Diaz Granados, the pilot, and Jose Ravel, the co-pilot.

Two minutes after takeoff from Miami International Airport on a flight to Latin America, the two-engine C46 plunged from 300 feet, clipped the edge of an auto body shop and plowed into the yard. Several cars were destroyed.

The plane, property of Aesa-Aerolineas of El Salvador, fell one block from the nearest homes.

Sheriff's deputy Robert James said trouble obviously developed immediately after takeoff and the plane had swung completely around in an effort to return to the airport when it dived into the ground.

TODAY'S BOY NEEDS RESPONSIBILITIES

"Most young people today get into tangles because they have nothing else to do"... says a noted juvenile court judge

Delinquency isn't bred among boys who respect the property of others and know the value of money.

Civic and school authorities agree that "busy boys are better boys." Newspaperboys profitably invest their spare-time and exuberant energies in gaining business experience. They learn the value of money by working for it.

Of all part-time jobs, a newspaper route provides the best over-all training for future business success.

As one prominent educator wrote, "Many types of work which young people engage in do not provide the same experiences that the paper route offers. A paper route is a miniature business. The newspaperboy is actually on his own."

Busy Boys Are Better Boys

If you think your son or some other youngster might profit by Newspaperboy Experience, why not suggest that he come in and talk to us.

The meeting will be held Wednesday, Feb. 17, in the Chamber of Commerce Building, and will begin at 8 p. m., instead of 7:30 p. m., as first planned.

Mrs. Edward Kuivenen is program chairman. Hostess chairman is Mrs. Bruno Nardi and her committee is Mesdames Robert Appel, Arol Beck, Donald Gou-lais, N. J. Theisen, Norman Arntzen, T. A. McInerney and William Lole, Miss Anona Anderson and Miss Eva Flem-strom.

Anyone Can Succeed With House Plants

Whether you live in the North or South—or East or West—indoor gardening is in order now and all year round. If you live in the deep south, you will likely garden in a "Florida room;" elsewhere it is most likely in the living room but don't be afraid of using the bedroom. The old idea that plants where you sleep are harmful has now been proved sheer fallacy, say the indoor garden experts. The only thing to keep in mind is that in the North you should move the plants to a safer place each night, if you are a fresh air fiend.

It doesn't make much difference whether you use clay pots or fancy glazed ones. The thing to remember is that glazed pots do not evaporate water through their sides as do clay ones. Therefore, they need less frequent watering and less at a time. Also, put a ½ inch, or more of gravel in the bottom of each pot for a drainage area, a safety valve against over-watering.

Watering Tips

When watering, try not to use cold water fresh from the pipe. It is noticeably colder than the air at all seasons and may shock some plants. Better fill your watering can immediately after watering and let it stand in the room until next time. By then, it will be room temperature. Also, if the water is heavily chlorinated, most of it will escape into the air while standing.

Another point to bear in mind: the old advice about never letting water stand in droplets on the leaves in the sun has been proved completely false. Water is not only a cooling agent and makes burning impossible but it cannot act like a magnifying glass. To burn, the lens would have to be held an inch or two away from the leaf, not on it.

Temperatures Factors

Another factor is temperature. The average house is on the warm side for most plants. But, if it is allowed to cool down at least 10 degrees at night, the plants take it much better.

Drafts are also important. Most plants do better if a little fresh air enters the house. But, don't let it blow directly on the plants. Drafts or sudden temperature changes shock the plants. They are one of the chief causes of the red bracts falling from poinsettias.

Do not let the soil get hard. Loosen it periodically with one of those small hand tools made especially for patio and indoor gardening.

Finally, bear in mind that all plants must rest some time. They may not lose their leaves but growth does stop. With many plants this is during the short days of winter. During these periods water less frequently and, if possible, put the plants into a slightly cooler place.

Wash and Hang

New curtains which can be washed and hung back at the window are another new development. They are made from a sheer glass fiber in mar-quisette construction. The fabric is said not to deteriorate from sunlight or mildew. It will not shrink or stretch. Other reported qualities are long wear, soft hand and attractive ruffling. It can also be used as an undercurtaining with drap-eries.

More than 40 boot manufacturers are using silver knit linings of 100 per cent polypropylene olefin fiber. The pile fabric is claimed to provide durability, high warmth per weight, quick drying properties and high abrasion resistance. The fabric is available in white, black, maize, beige, red and grey.

Gourmet's Artichokes

ARTICHOKES with flavorful sauce are a special treat.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Last year, we drove over most of the 10,000 California acres devoted to artichokes. We had lunch in the little town of Castroville, which calls itself the artichoke capital of the world.

One of the best local cooks gave us this recipe, emphasizing that fresh artichokes are available from November to May, late spring being the peak season.

Artichokes Delight (4 servings)

Prepare 4 artichokes as directed below:
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ pound mushrooms, sliced
1 tablespoon flour
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ cup milk
1 cup heavy cream
Grated Parmesan cheese
While artichokes are cooking, melt butter; add lemon juice and mushrooms. Cook until mushrooms are tender, stirring frequently; reserve a few slices for garnish.

Stir in flour, salt, pepper, parsley. Gradually stir in milk and cream, blending until smooth. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Pour sauce into hot, cooked artichokes. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Add mushroom slices and a little parsley, if desired.

To prepare artichokes: Turn them upside down and press firmly. Remove chokes (thistle portion), using sharp knife and metal spoon.

Stand them upright in deep saucepan large enough to hold snugly. Add 1-inch boiling water and ¼ teaspoon salt for each artichoke.

Cover and boil gently 20 to 45 minutes, or until stems can be pierced easily with a fork (add a little more boiling water if needed.)

Turn artichokes upside down to drain. Cut off stems.

RESTAURANT FAVORITE

Many a famous restaurant has built its reputation on such hearty dishes as braised lamb shanks. Take a tip from experienced chefs and serve these "individual legs of lamb" often. They're one of the thrif-tier lamb buys, yet are just as nutritious and full-flavored as the fancier cuts.

Hot Hermansville Downs Alpha Quint

HERMANSVILLE — Coach Don Hill's Hermansville Redskins, fourth ranked among Michigan Class D teams and front runner in the Big Seven Conference, played their best game of the campaign last night when they whipped Alpha, 105-63.

The Redskins amazed even their veteran coach with a sizzling shooting performance that produced 61 points in the first two quarters of action. Alpha was already out of the running at that stage with 31 points.

In that first half the Redskins had hit on 60 per cent of their shots from the field. They canned 11 of 22 in the first quarter and then zeroed

Yago Switches To Rebounding

MARQUETTE — Former Holy Name star Con Yagodzinski switched roles in a surprise performance as the Northern Michigan University Wildcats clawed downstate Northwood Institute, 124-89, here Friday night.

The 6 foot 5 inch sophomore, second leading scorer on Coach Stan Albeck's team this season, tallied only four points against Northwood. But he swept the glass boards as the top rebounder in the game and was outstanding on defense.

Gene Summers of the Wildcats and Jerry Pettway of Northwood shared individual scoring honors with 31 points.

The victory was Northern's 15th in 18 starts entering this afternoon's game against St. Norbert. The defeat was Northwood's fourth in 16 starts.

Big Difference In Dean Chance

LOS ANGELES (AP) — What a difference a year, a 20-game winning season and a salary doubled and more, can make in the life of a baseball pitcher.

Right-hander Dean Chance of the Los Angeles Angels is a case in point.

Today Dino is a contented young man of 23, whose only concern, he says, is to win 20 or more games again this season.

Or, in direct contrast to the Chance of last spring, he says: "I hope to have as good a season as my contract calls for."

The Ohio farm boy-yes, he's really an off-season farmer—signed his 1965 contract Friday. The Angels will never even hint

Gladstone Game Reset Tuesday

GLADSTONE—Coach Bill Wood announced today that the Gladstone basketball game against Marquette, wiped out Friday night by the snow storm, has been rescheduled for Tuesday night, Feb. 16.

Parents of the Gladstone players will be honored at the game.

in for 16 of 24 in the second frame.

With reserves dotting the lineup in the second half, Hermansville's shooting percentage slipped, but not by much. The Redskins finished with 43 of 84 from the floor, for 51 per cent. As usual, they were deadly from the foul line where they connected on 19 of 23 opportunities.

Ron Povoio, Upper Peninsula scoring leader all season, was again the top gunner for the Redskins with 35 points. Playing with a sprained ankle suffered in mid-week practice, Povoio tossed in 11 points in the first period, 14 in the second and 10 in the third before sitting out the final frame. He pumped in five straight from the free throw line.

The triumph was Hermansville's 14th in 15 starts overall this season. The Redskins head the Big Seven race with a 10-0 record.

Marty Smith and Roger LaCoursier gave the Redskins a big edge in the rebounding department, dominating both boards.

Sophomore Doug LaCoursier came up with his best offensive performance of the season with 24 points to follow Povoio in the point column. Harry Gordon and Smith also reached double figures.

The Redskins will return to action Tuesday night against Champion, the team that handed Hermansville its lone setback this season by an 85-84 mark. The game will be played at the Community Center gym.

State Fighters Begin Swinging

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Lured by trophies for novices and possible national amateur boxing honors for open division competitors, fighters from four tournament centers mix it up here Saturday in the Golden Gloves state championships.

The 42-bout card is sponsored by the American Legion's furniture city post.

Eight novice kings and eight open class champions will be crowned as a result of the competition. Novices receive trophies and the open class winners travel on to the national tournament next month in Kansas City.

Also at stake is the Stephen Griffin trophy for the Michigan team champion.

Bidding for outright possession of the trophy it shared with Grand Rapids on the basis of a tie last year is the Lansing squad which has four winners returning from the 1964 championships.

Saginaw and Flint expect their teams to be high in contention.

Bruins Sideline Huskies Without Much Difficulty

By The Associated Press

The Washington Huskies threw a scare into the UCLA Bruins, the national collegiate basketball champions, in their game last week at Los Angeles. They lost by only 78-75.

It was different when UCLA traveled north to play Washington at Seattle Friday night. The Huskies held the champs to a 34-34 halftime tie before the Bruins went on a 12-point spree for a 83-73 victory.

Gail Goodrich paced the burst that broke the game open. He scored a total of 20 points, 18 of them in the second half.

It was the 26th straight victory in Pacific Athletic League competition for the Bruins, ranked second to Michigan in this week's Associated Press poll. UCLA was the only team in the AP Top Ten to play Friday.

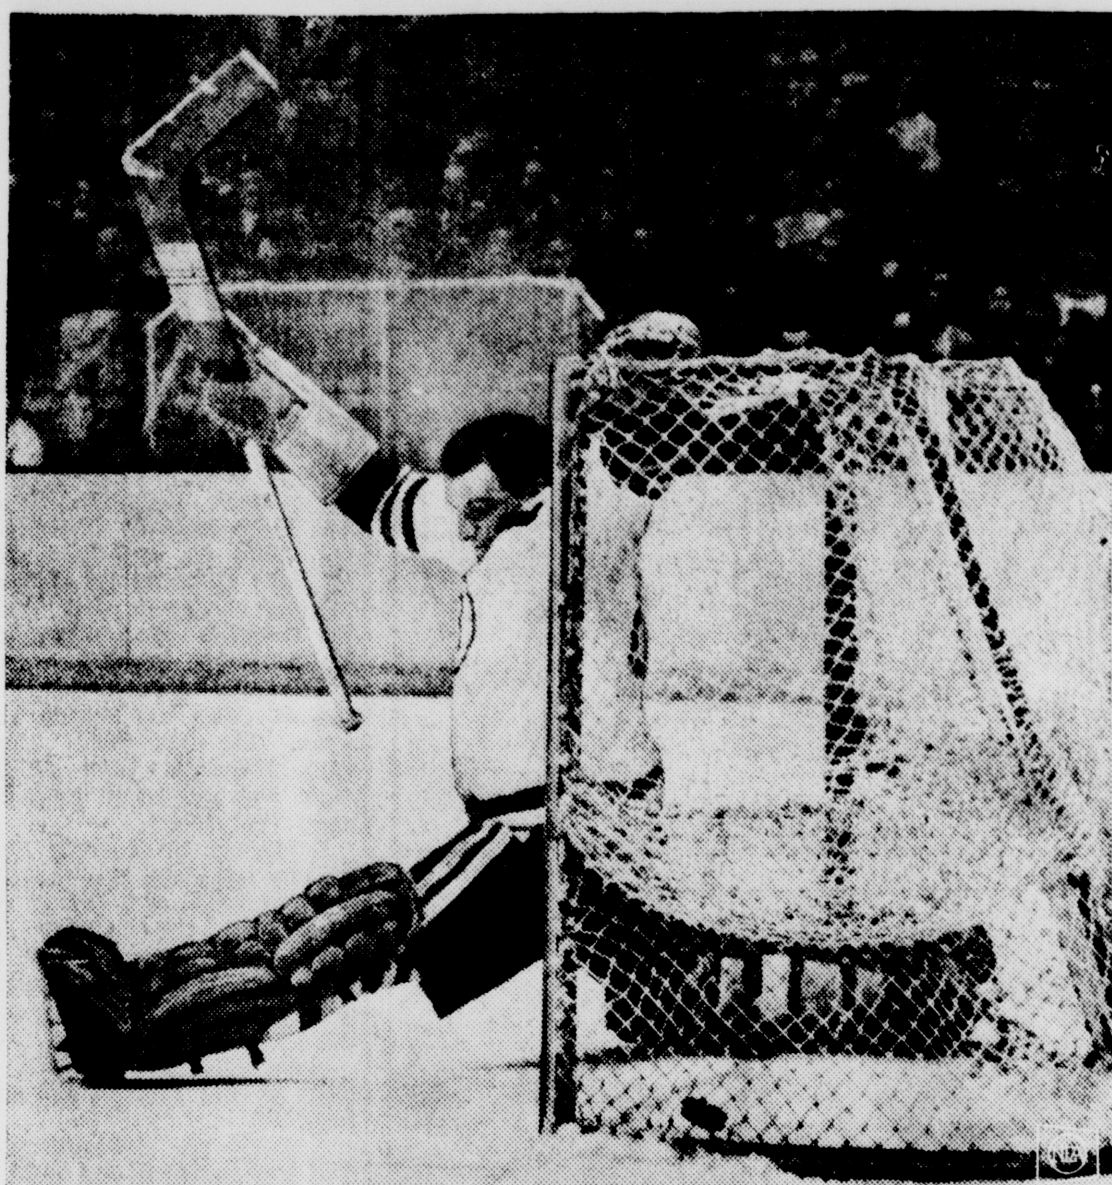

Back East, the Dartmouth Indians also extended their streak, losing their 28th straight Ivy League game. Penn beat them 87-67 in Philadelphia.

The San Francisco Dons, who dropped out of the AP Top Ten this week, crushed Pepperdine 92-69 for their 21st straight in the West Coast Athletic Conference and their 20th straight at home.

Jim Jarvis' two free throws in the last 18 seconds gave Oregon State a 47-45 victory over Stanford at Palo Alto. Bill Westphal's 19 points led Southern California to a 59-57 victory over Washington State at Pullman.

Lowly Knicks Give Celts Fits In Pro Cage League

By The Associated Press

The New York Knickerbockers are giving Boston fits considering they trail the Celtics by 29 games in the National Basketball Association standings and have beaten the defending champions only once in eight season meetings.

The Knicks, who managed to bug Celtic star Bill Russell and Coach Red Auerbach while losing by 28 points the last time the teams met, pushed Boston into overtime Friday night before bowing 94-92.

The Eastern Division leaders, now 50-11 on the season, sputtered repeatedly before John Havlicek's bucket with 30 seconds to play in overtime finally shook off the lowly Knicks.

Top Athlete Gets Honors

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Don Schollander, 18-year-old Yale freshman who won four swimming gold medals in the Olympics at Tokyo last October, will be honored Sunday night as Male Athlete of the Year in 1964.

Schollander, a runaway winner in The Associated Press year-end poll of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters, will receive the Frederick C. Miller memorial trophy, Mickey Wright, the pro golfer queen voted Female Athlete of the Year a second straight time, had to cancel her appearance at the dinner. Miss Wright, who is nursing a stomach ulcer, was advised by her doctor to remain at her home in Dallas.

Schollander, whose home is in Oswego Lake, Ore., became the first swimmer ever to win four gold medals in the Olympics. His tremendous feat enabled him to become the first swimmer to be named Athlete of the Year in the 34-year history of The AP poll. He also won the Sullivan Award as the nation's top amateur athlete.

Spartans Down Badger Icers

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Doug Roberts scored three goals and assisted on three others in leading Michigan State to an 8-4 hockey victory over Wisconsin Friday night.

The Spartans outshot the Badgers by a 48-16 margin, but had to score four goals in the final period for their 13th victory in 21 games.

Wisconsin marksmen were Don Anderson, Jim Petruzzates, Ron Leszczynski and Tom French. Ray Clegg, who had scored 18 goals in his seven previous games, managed only two assists as the Badgers' record slipped to 11-7.

Icekana Event Is Rescheduled

Because of the severe snowstorm Thursday night, the eighth annual Icekana sponsored by the Delta Sports Car Club has been rescheduled for Sunday, Feb. 21.

The track on the ice of the bay off the Gladstone Yacht Club will open at noon and the races will begin at 1. Trophies will be awarded at a dinner at the Yacht Club following completion of the competition.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles whipped San Francisco 114-95 and maintained its two-game Western margin over St. Louis, which walloped Baltimore 144-100.

Havlicek also sank a last-second desperation shot from the corner, sending the Boston-New York game into overtime after the cold-shooting Celtics had blown a seven-point bulge. Havlicek then capped a seven-point closing burst that brought Boston from behind in the extra period.

Teenager Sets Shot Put Mark

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Young Randy Matson of Texas A&M, who broke the world indoor shot put record Friday night says his next goal will be the world outdoor mark.

The 19-year-old Texan heaved the shot 65 feet 8 1/4 inches dazing a thunderous crowd of 7,000 at the fifth Will Rogers Indoor Games.

The toss eclipsed the 64-11 3/4 standard set in 1962 by Gary Gubner of New York University.

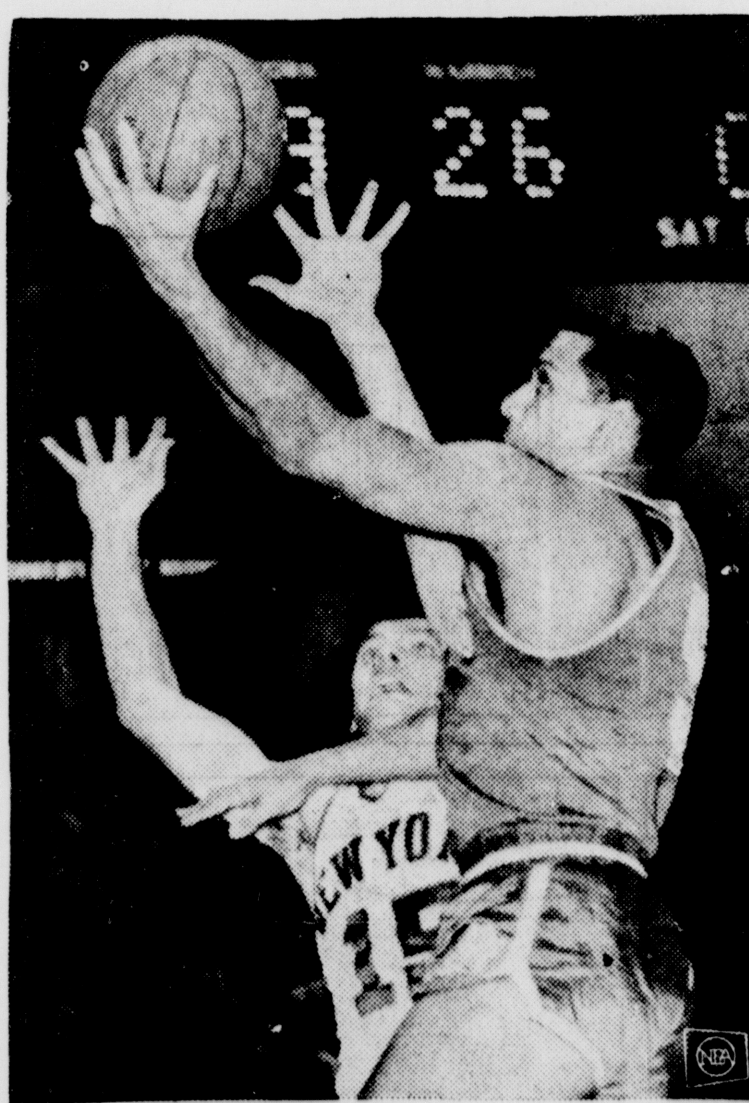

Matson, a 255-pounder said a Dallas meet tonight will be the last indoor competition of the year for him.

He said he plans to lay off a week and begin preparations for a concentrated attack on the outdoor shot put record of 67-10 held by Dallas Long.

Matson stole the show Friday night, following his record-shattering first throw, with heaves of 64-7 1/2, 63-1 1/2, 60-11 3/4. He scratched at 64-3 1/2.

Ralph Boston, the heralded broad jump wizard, was his specialty but his leap of 24-10 1/4 was less than spectacular.

Olympian Billy Hardin of Louisiana State beat back a challenge from Boston to win the 60-yard high hurdles in 7.4.

THE UPPER HAND—Guy Rodgers (5) of the San Francisco Warriors keeps the ball just inches from the outstretched hands of New York's Johnny Egan (15) as he goes in for a fast-break basket.

Winter Playday Slated Feb. 20 At Royce Rink

The 17th Annual Grade School Playday will be held on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 20, beginning at 1:30 at the Royce Park skating rink in Escanaba. The program is sponsored each year by the City Recreation Department in cooperation with the Escanaba Area Public and Parochial Schools.

Boys and girls from the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades of each school compete against each other in skating races of 110, 220, and 440 yards. First, second, third and fourth place finishers receive ribbons, and emblems are awarded to the high point winners. The school with the greatest number of points earned by its representatives during the meet is declared champion for the year.

Webster School captured first place last year with a total of 73 points. St. Anne took second with 43 points. St. Pat came in third with 37, Lemmer's 30 points was good for fourth place. St. Joe had 17 in fifth place. Washington took sixth with 14. Wells picked up 6 points for seventh, and Jefferson rounded out the scoring with 1 point.

Outstanding skaters in the girls' division were Connie Le-Captain of St. Anne and Annis Cole of St. Pats with three first place ribbons and 15 points. Among the boys Jim Kortved of Webster captured three championships and earned 15 points for his school. Gary Provo broke the tape in two races and was runnerup in another, earning 14 points to help Webster win team honors.

David Radar of St. Pats picked up 11 points on two firsts and a fourth. Other high point winners were: Tom Kangas, Tom Demars and Marsha Butler of St. Anne, Dawn Rodman and Charles Olson of Lemmer, Marilyn Johnson and Kathy Ness of St. Joe, Fred Niquette of Washington, Julie Harris of Wells, and Jim Johnson of Jefferson.

Yancey Keeps Phoenix Lead

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The spotlight was on Bert Yancey, Frank Beard and Al Geiberger as the $67,500 Phoenix Open golf tournament moved into its third round today but defending champion Jack Nicklaus was waiting in the wings.

Yancey, the first round leader, shot a 70 Friday, and Beard and Geiberger came through with 69s to tie for the second round lead at 137.

Nicklaus, with a 69, was one of three just two strokes back at 139. The others were Claude King with a 67 and Rod Fumseth, who shot a 68.

The scores on the 6,584-yard Arizona Country Club course improved Friday and winds which had swept the desert layout the day before died down. Excellent weather was forecast for today's round and Sunday's finale.

Among the name golfers with-in striking distance were veterans Doug Sanders at 73-68-141, Julius Boros at 70-72-142 and two-time Phoenix champion Gene Littler at 73-70-143.

British Open champ Tony Lema and Bill Casper Jr., who won last week's $100,000 Desert Golf Classic at Palm Springs, Calif., had 144 each.

Wall In Front In Panama Golf

PANAMA (AP) — Art Wall Jr., whose game thrives in south-of-the-border sunshine, has forged a six-stroke halfway lead in the Panama Open golf tournament, first stop on this winter's five-tourney Caribbean swing.

Wall, over-all champion on last year's tour and holder of eight Caribbean records, flirted with the course mark for the second straight round Friday before setting for a four-under-par 68 and a commanding margin over runner-up Don Stickney.

The 41-year-old champion from Pocono Manor, Pa., threatened to match his dazling, open-round 63 — one stroke above the course record — until sidetracked by a pair of bogeys on the last two holes. He had added an eagle and five birdies to his first-round total of nine birds when he faltered on the 17th green.

Players from 11 nations are entered in the 72-hole event, which runs through Sunday.

Storm Affects Local Schools

Manistique High School dismissed early Friday, at 2:30 p.m., due to a heavy snowstorm. All buses except Thompson came in in the morning, but students began to be returned to their homes at 10:15 a.m. The last bus, Doyle's, took children home at noon.

Heavy snow was falling, creating poor visibility. There was some drifting. The snowfall came on iced-areas, left by rains followed by freezing weather earlier in the week. The snowfall kept up intermittently through the day.

The early dismissal for rural students was the second this week. The basketball game with Escanaba here Friday night was postponed until tonight (Saturday).

A number of students from the city left early Friday, without permission and will be receiving "Es" for the afternoon, the school reported. About 60 or 70 reconsidered, some within a half hour after leaving, and reported back for classes.

Rural students comprise a third of the school's 640 enrollment.

A movie on Abraham Lincoln was shown at the close of the school day.

All main roads were clear, though snow-covered in spots. Local roads also had been plowed as of Friday afternoon but some were plugging within a half hour due to the wind. Generally, blustery conditions prevailed.

Timber Producers Offered Aid In Record Keeping

Timber producers of the Manistique area met Thursday night in the library and heard a report from Jack McCabe of Lake States Treating Co. on needs of the company for poles, and another report, with slides, by Rick Hartwig of the MSU extension service on bookkeeping for small businesses.

Michigan State has offered to assist area timber producers in record keeping with Tel-Farm, or Tel-Forest, which utilizes data processing available at the University.

Quarterly reports are provided, along with analyses of businesses.

A cooperative yard for producers in the area was discussed by those attending.

TWO HARDY Gladstone Boy Scouts made ready to sleep outside Friday night despite the blizzard conditions. The boys, Warren Isaacson and Steve Strom, pitched their tent, carried in trees for protection and wood for warmth, then, fortified with sleeping bags and other gear made the breeze-way of the Dairy Flow on Delta Ave. a cozy campsite. The boys are members of Troop 461. Steve Nelson, not pictured, also spent the night camped out. (Daily Press Photo)

Personal Tax Statement Due

Gladstone residents have been advised by J. R. Olson, city assessor, that sworn statements of personal property must be filed by March 1.

The statements are required by state law after a change last year in the property tax statute. Olson said the Gladstone City Commission, which will sit as a Board of Review, has indicated that as a means of enforcing the law they will raise automatically valuations on all property holders who have not filed a statement.

The Board of Review will meet on March 2, for this purpose.

Olson said that the State Tax Commission has ruled that appeals on cases where personal property statements were not submitted will not be heard. He added that anyone with any questions about filing procedure should contact him at the City Hall.

WHAT DOES IT ALL ADD UP TO?

In the well-known city where this young fellow is growing up crime has shown a steady increase for more than a decade. And many of the convicted offenders aren't old enough to vote. Rough-looking "kids" loiter on the street corners with nothing to do. Smooth-looking "kids" flash by in cars with no place to go. The police patrol certain beats with dogs — humanity alone cannot cope with the situation.

But this young fellow must grow up nevertheless. And for him . . . for the community . . . for the nation . . . tomorrow depends on how he grows up!

It all adds up to the most crying need of our time: early, continuing, determined moral and religious instruction. It demands spiritual awareness in our homes. It requires resolute, sacrificial support of our churches.

In every city, village and hamlet an awakened nation is mustering its total spiritual resources . . . seeking God's help . . . and seeking yours . . .
